NOVEMBER 7, 1913

TUESDAY was a royal day for Democracy. In Kentucky there was an almost unbroken line of Democratic victories, while in New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia and Massachusetts it was all one way. Democratic Governors and full tickets being elected in three of them and a U. S. Senator in Maryland by a plurality of 42,000. In Indianapolis a Democratic mayor was elected by a plurality of 5,547. In Cincinnati, the more the pity, a Republican was elected mayor by a small plurality. In New York City, the fusion candidate for mayor put up against Tammany and favored by President Wilson won by 121,000 plurality which wrecks the malign power of Tammany, let us hope, forever. Sulzer was elected to the Legislature, but the Democrats lost control of it, owing to dissensions. In New Jersey Flanders was elected Governor by a plurality of 33,000, greatly to the satisfaction of President Wilson, who justly feels that the elections have shown how fully his administration is approved. At no point, except in Louisville, did the Progressives show any strength indicating that that so-called party is almost entirely eliminated, except as a thorn in the flesh of the Republicans.

It really looks like the Democrats have come to their own to stay and they will, if the leaders stand as clear of mistakes as they have done.

The happiest lot of Democrats in the State are in Lexington. A lot of sore-head Democrats and Republicans combined four years ago and by false representation and false pretense, won most of the county offices. They failed to make good. In fact they made very bad. Attempting the same trick again this year, they got the cold shoulder and with Judge Frank Bullock heading the Democratic ticket, as he did four years ago, the Democrats had easy sailing. The Judge was elected by 1,118 majority, the average of the list being 1,000, while Theodore Lewis was re-elected county clerk by about 2,000. The hardest fight was made on Mrs.

Nannie G. Faulconer for county superintendent because she had increased taxes for school purposes, but she won by 36 majority over Miss Fidler, the fusion nominee. The entire county administration will be Democratic and all the magistrates but one. It will be a gratifying change which will redound to the good of the people.

To Chairman Thomas A. Combs, of the campaign committee, and to such telling speakers as Former Congressman W. P. Kimball, in addition to the splendid personnel of the ticket, the great victory is due and the result indicates that no more will the county and city go off after false Gods.

Mrs. Ella H. Ellwanger, of Louisville and Frankfort, has written a book, which like all her efforts is delightfully entertaining and refreshing. The subject is not a very new one, that of a bad boy, but handled in her incomparable style it is better than new. Editor Henry Watterson pronounces it one of the best little stories he ever read and Mrs. Ellwanger is very proud that he wrote the inscription just before he left for Europe. The book is splendidly gotten up and printed and will be on sale in a few days, when it is sure to have a good run. The writer feels great interest in the success of the work, owing to the pleasant relations that existed during his ownership of the Frankfort State Journal. Mrs. Ellwanger was society editor and the best that we ever knew. She did not confine her work to that alone, but did general writing of a most entertaining and enjoyable nature. She is a real genius and one of the most deserving of women.

The President and Mrs. Wilson sent out 400 invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Jessie, but up to the hour of going to press ours had persistently refused to arrive. The mail service is becoming exasperatingly bum. Turn the rascals out!

A woman was sentenced to death at Concord, Conn., for killing her husband, but she will not suffer death. The hanging of women has become a lost art in this country. The last woman hanged in Connecticut was in 1786.

The Court of Appeals decides that a son cannot be made to support his father, but if there is a son who can and won't support his father after he has been incapacitated, hush, won't be hot enough for him in the life to come.

To prove how the Progressive vote is slipping away, a negro beat a follower of Roosevelt at Winchester for councilman. Sic transit gloria mundi; as we Irish say.

ALL his friends, and their name is Legion, are delighted that Judge Frank A. Bullock "came back" in Fayette. He would never have been defeated but for the circulation of the meanest lies on him, which enough people were led to believe to let a Republican in. The election will give Judge Bullock 24 years as county judge of next to the richest county in the State.

THAT the woman suffrage movement is the product of noisy and dissatisfied women with little interest taken in it by women in general, God bless them, is shown in the fact that in this county, with a population of about 30,000, only twelve women voted. The average woman does not want to usurp her husband's and brothers' prerogatives.

Gov. SULZER seems disposed to rub it in Tammany. Not content with triumphing over it and being elected to the General Assembly, he will run for Speaker of the House. If all the charges against Murphy that have been made are sustained, he will go to the pen.

JUDGE BENTON seems determined to purify elections. He did it here and is now doing it in Jessamine, where he delivered the set charge to the Grand jury made at Winchester and here.

The City Council

Held a brief session last night, but took up nothing new or of interest, only routine business being transacted.

For the second time Whitley City has won for the permanent county seat of McCreary. It won over Pine Knot before by 132 and Tuesday by 225. A contest made the second vote necessary.

There were no developments of any kind in the Mexican situation the White House announced last night. It was admitted that instructions had been sent Charge O'Shaughnessy and although their nature was not made public the manner in which officials discussed the situation indicated that news dispatches from Mexico City were correct. Felix Diaz was wounded while in a street fight with other Mexicans in Havana.

The Courier Journal has a picture of him with this notice: "Eld. James W. Harding, the oldest native-born citizen of Winchester, will be 90 years and 6 months old today. Elder Harding was born in Winchester and has lived there all his life. He has been engaged in the ministry more than seventy-two years. He is pastor of the Fairfax street Church of Christ in Winchester, and conducts services on one Lord's Day in each month."

The Carlin bill, recently passed by Congress making the robbery of freight cars, baggage cars and express cars engaged in interstate commerce and the robbery of interstate shipments from platforms and stations a federal offense, is a law with teeth in it and sharp ones at that as was evidenced in the Federal court in Alabama when John L. Parker was given a sentence of six years in the United States prison for robbing a shipment of shoes consigned to Glasgow, Miss. from a car in the Birmingham yards on May 1.
